“ Michelle,

I loved you like a sister. You were crazy... literally... always the life of the party, never a dull moment with you around. Definitely one of the most giving and selfless people I know with the biggest heart, an infectious laugh, loving hugs and always made me feel at home. I always knew you had my back..no matter what, we could talk about anything and everything. Your love for life and others was inspiring, especially when it came to Aston, which I know he misses his mommy dearly, taking care of friends, family, especially your dad when he became ill, and all your friends furbabies. You were the one who understood me and my pain when my dad passed as you went through losing yours not too long before. CANCER SUCKS!!!

From climbing Mt. Picchu, running marathons even after being diagnosed with MS, jumping out of airplanes, going to NYC or Vegas for a weekend getaway, having holiday parties, friendly dinners and drinks, you always were on some type of an adventure. And some of those adventures we shared together. Those memories I will cherish in my heart forever ❤️. Fly high my guardian angel. ❤️

“ Missing you very much dear friend. Wish there were more opportunities to be travel mates. This world is a bit emptier without you. For now, wherever I go, will be taking a piece of you with me. Rest in peace Michelle. Maybe we'll see each other again some day.

“ *We will always remember our little runner. She loved to run with Uncle Roger... along the beach or around the block. We have many happy memories of time spent with Michelle both in our house or on a beach vacation. Michelle was a determined, young lady who took the lemons life threw at her and made her own special lemonade. We will miss her impromptu calls from PA... just to talk. She amazed me with the solo trips to other countries she took and the determination she showed. To me she seemed fearless. We love her and will greatly miss our 'Chell-Belle. Love you, Michelle.
