This world is not the same without you in it. You were a great representative of God's unconditional love and grace. You spread kindness and positivity wherever you went. You were quick to smile and laugh, but you were also quick to be compassionate and to comfort anyone who was down. You always thought of others and would give the shirt off your back to anyone who was in need. You always forgave, you never held a grudge. You saw the best in people. You were a great listener. Yes, the world has lost its sparkle and shine now that you are gone. Words cannot express how much we love and miss you. We cannot wait to be reunited with you in heaven.
