“ I have a few treasured Tracey memories, but the one I want to share was my last time seeing her. As she sat up in her bed, clearly having been through some tough days prior, there she sat to welcome me and with that radiant joy God infused in her. Tracey smiled, laughed, inquired, and shared. Her legacy lives on in her ability to bring great joy and excitement to those she meets and befriends. Continually praying over Robert and Kate these truths: The Lord is so very close to the broken-hearted. Lord, draw them ever so close in these most difficult of days!
